

Outside Inside
An exhibition of new works by Suzannah O'Reilly

Artist Statement

Cover Image: Log pile II /Log pile I, photo etching and wood roll up on fabriano paper

These prints and wood pieces are made in direct response to my environment. They are a collection of images gathered from numerous walks, journeys and experiences in the Silvermine Mountains and Keeper Hill area in Co. Tipperary.

The land, trees, mountains, horizons and hills feature prominently in these works as do the shapes and patterns they display. Printed in earthy tones these prints focus on the reality and vulnerability of the forests, cut down and stripped, tree trunks piled and ready for trucks as the landscape is in service to man.

The prints also feature veils of coloured layers printed on top of the landscape images. These rectangular shapes indicate an interior view of the landscape seen through a window or door from inside looking out. The wood textured layers of colour give the prints an irregular/organic quality that further represents the trees.

The prints are mixed media, photo etchings, wood colour roll ups, chine colle on paper and wood veneer squares linked together by binding rings to assemble a concertina type wood book. It is displayed as an object to be viewed from all sides and demonstrate a moving and changing landscape moving inside and outside.
